Nitrates in the Water

- Monitoring an increasing Nitrate trend since 1999
 - 2008 levels varied between 8 and 9.9 mg/liter
 - Aug 2009, notified EPA Standard of 10 mg/liter exceeded
 - Aug result below “World Health Organization” Standard
- EPA requires notification when tests are above 10 mg/l
- Water plant shut down well with highest Nitrate level now monitoring indicates Nitrate level back below EPA Standard (8.9 & 9.4 mg/liter)
- Health risk is minimal
- EPA cites “Blue-Baby Syndrome” as immediate threat
 - Evidence is from much higher level than those at Incirlik
